MOBILE PHONES - no news is good news!

Some Explorers are taking mobile phones so parents might think they should be involved and still responsible: No, please resist the urge to contact your Explorer. An Expedition is a great opportunity for them to mature and gain independence away from home and away from familiar surroundings. The Explorers should choose when they want to communicate homewards and of course it might not be possible anyway. Don't arrange a nightly "how are you" text time; Don't demand a daily news feed; Most important of all, don't get worried by silence: on a Scouting trip no news is always good news as it means we are too busy having fun to keep in touch.
